

Summer Saturdays

By Carmel Quinn

Saturday can be one of the loneliest days
Especially amid the Summer haze
The silence of the light
Gradually dying into the night
That balmy heat
Suggesting gatherings to meet and greet
Sitting alone, waiting for the phone
To ring...
Anticipation of something